

Maintenance and Repair

What is the best way to seal up the ROV in a humid environment?

It is best to seal the ROV with as little moisture in the air as possible. The best way to do this is in a controlled environment with low humidity.

For more information and recommendations for techniques that can be used in the field when you don't have a controlled environment, see the following post on www.rovinfo.com:

Re-Assembly in a humid environment?

Unique solution ID: #1080

Author: Tom Glebas

Last update: 2012-11-27 22:34